

Fishing is Occasional...Farming is a life long process... It ALL starts at home...

As I work with families and continue to listen to their needs, wants and goals...I realize that the most important things in life are the things that money cannot buy. I was raised this way..that gives me the foundation to best serve all generations. I feel that I am in the "sandwich generation"...I am "At The Top of The Mountain"...the view is beautiful!

Sears Insurance protects your health, your life, your income, your assets...not just for you...but for the ones that you love. The most precious items that we can pass along is a good and long life and the assets that we have accrued. In the meantime we must prepare. We have done this all of our lives...that is why we are where we are! This is just one more step. This step may not have been a learned step...as the world changes, so are the ways and the costs and the demands. So now we should transfer the high and unknown cost (risk) to a premium (fixed annual cost) so that we can continue with the lifestyle that we are accustomed, even with the failure of health, even with rising costs of daily needs, premiums and taxes.

I encourage you to educate yourselves, ask questions, and collaborate on what your family should do for each other. As families we have talked about everything else...now why not the nuts and bolts of legacy. We also pass on good habits...please make this planning process one of them.
